Open minded

I am an open minded person because I accept new ideas, concepts, beliefs and cultures but I defend my own culture and my beliefs. Is very good to be an open minded person because it is easier to interact with different people if you accept them as they are.

Being open minded in class

If I am open minded in my class I can do a better job in group work because I give my ideas and I defend them but I accept others ideas and we can work more effectively. If you are closed minded it will be much more difficult to learn about other topics you don't know about.
